Use of Teaching Elders within the Presbytery

Eastminster does not have a formal process for utilizing other teaching elders within the Presbytery for tasks. In the case of the absence of the Pastor, either for vacation or illness, the Worship Committee will contact the Presbytery Office for names of teaching elders that are willing to serve as stated supply. The individuals will be contacted and arrangements made.

If the Pastor feels he is in need of assistance with clerical duties, he will contact individuals directly. This would most likely come into play involving hospital and nursery home visits.
